ELEMENT3 HEALTH SELECTS DENVER FOR HEADQUARTERS

After Extensive Search, Aging-Focused Healthcare Company Selects Denver for Headquarters

DENVER, CO., July 17, 2018 – Element3 Health, a network that engages 50-plus adults around their passions to increase their physical, social and mental activity for healthy aging, today announced its selection of Denver, Colorado for its company headquarters.

The company's search considered a number of factors including availability and ability to attract talent, healthcare industry presence, cost of living, and quality of life. After considering other cities included Austin, Phoenix, and Salt Lake City, Element3 Health has decided to locate its headquarters in Denver, Colorado.

"After considering a broad set of options, we are very excited to announce that we have selected Denver for our headquarters.", said David Norris, Chairman and CEO of Element3 Health. "One of the biggest considerations was the availability of great talent locally as well as the ability to easily relocate key hires to the Denver area."

Element3 Health has already located more than 30 of its staff in Denver near Union Station and has kicked off a search for its long-term HQ offices, with location and expansion options as its primary priorities.

About Element3 Health

Element3 Health is a network that engages 50-plus adults around their passions to increase their physical, social and mental activity for healthy aging. The company combines the three most powerful elements of health into one cohesive solution in order to tackle the $75 billion of unnecessary healthcare spending associated with social, mental and physical decline among seniors. The company's GroupWorks engagement platform is growing quickly, onboarding 1.5 million members, 15,000 groups and across 120+ passions. Using an activity scoring engine, Element3 Health can calculate individual ActivityBenefit™ scores and use their proprietary GroupMatch™ matching engine to help optimize members' health across social, mental and physical metrics. <https://element3health.com>
